

Presents

Opening New Doors

The Baby Boomer generation is leading the way again in our country, living longer and healthier as a group than prior generations! The characterization of life post full-time employment as "retirement" seems inadequate for the activities of today's seniors, many of whom continue to be active, giving back to their communities and the economy while pursuing rich personal lives, making new friends and enjoying the opportunity to explore the numerous intellectual, cultural and nature-oriented activities Washington offers.

Georgetown Village has designed a set of four educational programs that focus on how seniors are spending their time now, with a goal of helping seniors think through their options to usual views of "retirement." The programs are packaged as a series and will all be held at St. John's Episcopal Church, 3240 O Street N.W., in D.C. Receptions will be hosted prior to each event at 6:00 PM, followed by a one-hour presentation, to include questions and answers. Participation in the events is offered at $15.00 per session or $50.00 for the entire series. $30.00 for GV Volunteers and other Village members. FREE for GV Village members. RSVP by calling Lynn Golub-Rofrano at 202-999-8988 or email Lynn@georgetown-village.org Please reserve early to assure your spot in the room!

January 30 at 6:00 P.M.

Financial Planning, Wills, Trusts, Estates for 55 and Older (Particularly helpful for Singles)

The basic underpinning of any ability to live well after full-time employment is a solid financial platform. The nature of financial planning changes as we age, so far as the kinds of instruments in which seniors should invest, considering their time horizon and risk tolerance. It is also important for peace of mind and to assure wishes are followed that seniors engage in planning for wills, trusts, and estates. Finally, seniors are often the targets of financial scam artists. A thought-provoking panel on these topics will be presented by the speakers listed below:

Moderator:

Josh Kuhnert

Georgetown Village Assistant Treasurer

Doug Woodward, Certified Financial Planner™

Private Client Group Relationship Manager

TD Wealth

Roland Schrebler, JD (Wills, estates, trusts)

RMSLAW

Sydney Palinkas (Financial scams targeted at seniors)

Community Educator

Charles E. Smith Life Communities

February 27 at 6:00 P.M.

Second Careers: Breaking the Retirement Mold

Seniors today are living healthier and longer, presenting them more opportunities to continue to work after full-time employment and finding new ways to contribute to their communities and younger generations. Please join us for a fascinating panel with and about those who have reinvented their lives in key ways.

Moderator:

Bill Plante

Georgetown Village Board member

Jewell Vinson

AARP Representative

Barbara Hall (Board participation, volunteerism), Georgetown Village Board member
The Phillips Collection Board of Trustees

Carol A. Kelly (Adjunct faculty, consulting opportunities)

CEO, Kelly Advocacy Outcomes, LLC

Georgetown University Adjunct Faculty, Georgetown Village Board Member

March 18 at 6:00 P.M.

Grandparents in Modern Families:

We have become a nation in which many families have two parents in the workforce, bringing to the forefront child care issues for the families and the nation. Please join us for this panel which will explore the ways in which grandparents interact with and more directly support the younger generation with children than in the past. The panel features one author and two presenters who will discuss their active experiences with their families.

Moderator: Pam Godwin, Georgetown Village Vice President
Active grandparent

Merry Adler, author, "Grandmothers Who Inspired Us Across the World"

Nancy Regan, Georgetown Village member
Active grandparent

April 30 at 6:00 P.M.

The Art of Traveling for Today's Seniors:

When leaving full-time work, many seniors talk about traveling more often and doing "trips of a lifetime." This panel, anchored by Emily Sommers, Georgetown Village Board member and frequent traveler, includes a nationally known tour operator, plus one frequent solo traveler who ran her own tour business for many years.

Moderator: Emily Sommers (Online travel services and home organization) Georgetown Village Board member

Road Scholar Ambassador Elaine Murrell-Trips of a Lifetime

Betsy Kleeblatt

Former Owner, BETSY S. KLEEBLATT, Special Events and Tours of Washington

Frequent Solo Traveler

We hope to see many of you for this special programming, designed to make sure seniors can make the most of their opportunities! Participation in Georgetown Village for our full range of services and activities is also welcomed. For information on membership, please contact Lynn Golub-Rofrano, MSW, Executive Director, Georgetown-Village -202-999-8988 or email Lynn@georgetown-village.org